Javiera Ragnartz new CEO of SEB Investment Management

SEB has appointed Javiera Ragnartz new CEO of fund management company SEB Investment Management AB and Head of Division Investment Management. She most recently worked as head of asset management at pension company AMF. Prior to this, she held positions at Riksbanken and headed the fund management company at Handelsbanken. She has also held various management positions at SEB.

“Javiera Ragnartz has broad and deep asset management competence and I am happy to greet her welcome back to SEB. She has solid industry and leadership experience, and has worked with both strategic and operational issues in large organisations. Her task is to strengthen SEB’s fund management offering and continue to develop sustainable investment products,” says SEB’s President and CEO Johan Torgeby.

SEB Investment Management AB develops and manages a wide range of investment funds for corporate, institutional and private clients. SEB’s total assets under management were 1,699 billion kronor on 31 December 2018.

Javiera Ragnartz will assume her position at SEB during the summer of 2019 and will in her role as CEO of the fund company report to the Board of SEB Investment Management AB and in her role as divisional head report to Johan Torgeby.
